Civil Revision No. 37 of 2005

Hon. P.C. Pant, J.

Heard.

This revision is directed against the order dated 27.06.2005, passed by learned Civil Judge (Sr. Div.), Dehradun in Civil Suit No. 37 of 2005.

Impugned order is simplicitor an interlocutary order, whereby court has issued notices to the opposite party inviting their objection for disposal of application for interim injunction.

In the circumstances, it cannot be said that even if the order had been made in favour of the plaintiff/revisionist, it would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceedings.

Therefore, the revision is not maintainable. The same is dismissed in limine. However, it is open for the plaintiff/revisionist to seek appropriate remedy, if available to him including one under Article 227 of Constitution of India.

Dt. 23.02.2006 (P.C. Pant, J.)

Sweta